Dedication.

The dedicatory services at the new Catholic church promise to be of more than usual interest and solemnity. The dedication will occur on the 10th, conducted by Bishop Rademacher and a corps of assistant priests from various points. Dinner will be served on the grounds by the ladies of the church.

Our German citizens have built a magnificent church, beautiful in design and finish and it is fitting that the dedication should be grand and impressive. No doubt the attendance will be large as ample arrangements have been made for reduced fare on the railroad s.

The following from the Milwaukee Banner is reproduced. The little lady spoken of has many friends and relatives in this country.

"Quite a romantic marriage was that of C. C. McDonald, of Milwaukee to little Valena Tidwell of the south. She was on her way to school in Chicago and met Mr. McDonald on the train. The child's innocent and beautiful face soon won the admiration of one of Milwaukee's finest society men. He afterwards met her several times and finally became so attached to her that he found life would be a blank without his guardian angel as he called little Valena. So she left her school and he carried her to his elegant home on Grand Avenue in Milwaukee where they were married in the presence of many admiring friends, the bride being only thirteen years of age and the handsome groom thirty. Mr. McDonald is a fine gentleman, a Christian man and his mother before him was a Christian lady and the city affords no better family than his. May he live long and ever be happy with his beautiful child wife."
